U. S. NAVY WILL ATTEMPT TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

ATTEMPT WILL BE MADE THIS FALL OR IN THE EARLY SPRING

HUGE SEAPLANE HAS BEEN DESIGNED AND IS BEING CONSTRUCTED FOR PURPOSE

HAROLD JACOBS

(Copyright 1921 by the United Press)

New York, April 19—The United States navy, first to make a trans-Atlantic flight, will send a giant seaplane across the Pacific late this summer or early next spring.

The tri-plane, which will be known as the giant boat, has been under designing and construction for more than a year.

The wings and hull are being made at the navy aircraft factory at Philadelphia, and the motor and nacelles or bodies are being turned out at the Gallaudet Aircraft Corporation, at East Greenwich, Conn. The propellors are being made at Baltimore by the American Propellor company.

The time of the flight will depend upon when the craft is completed and upon the results of the test under which the plane is put.

The tentative route is San Diego, California, to Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, 2,100 miles; Honolulu to Wake Island, 1,800 miles; Wake Island to Guam, 1,100 miles. This is a total of 5,200 miles. Whether the plane would continue to the Asiatic mainland has not yet been determined. The longest "hop" of the historic NC-4 in 1919 was from Nova Scotia to the Ozores, 1,100 miles.

The general public had its first opportunity to marvel at the size of the great seaplane today when one of the huge eighteen foot three-blade propellors arrived in New York. It was brought here from Baltimore enroute to East Greenwich where it will be tested at the Gallaudet works.

Arriving at the East River pier the propellor was to be transferred by a motor truck to a New England steamer for shipment to East Greenwich.

The giant boat will have wings that spread 167 feet and will have three propellors, each driven by three 400 h. p. motors making a total of 3,600 h. p or 1,200 h. p. on each propellor.

The most radical departure from any previous airplane construction will be the arrangements of the motors and propellors. Each of the three nacelles are connected with each motor and the three motors with the propellors. Any motor may be disengaged and would not interfere with the operation of the propellor.

REDS TOLD TO QUIT LENINE OR UNIONS

"TEAR UP YOUR CARDS OR CEASE PREACHING BOLSHEVISM," RADICALS INFORMED

Chicago, April 19—Oscar Nelson, vice-president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, squelched soviet propaganda at the regular meeting of the federation in Musicians hall.

Without mincing his words, Nelson told protagonists of the Lenine philosophy to either tear up their union cards and sever their association from the trades union movement, or cease preaching the creed of bolshevism and red revolt. Nelson's ire was aroused by Gustav Frankenthal, business agent for the machinists union, during a discussin of the advisability of opposing bills now pending in Springfield which labor leaders regard as hostile to the labor movement.

Delegate Frank Lee declared that men of the labor movement deserved any detrimental legislation that was passed because of their effort to elect enough legislators to control the law making bodies. He added that the more obnoxious and oppressive such legislation was, the more he would be pleased, because, he said, the working class would never do anything worth while for itself until it was goaded into action by tyranny and oppression.

"Since the first man walked this earth there has been a labor problem and until the last man leaves it there will still be a labor problem to solve," said Nelson. "The best minds of the age have sought a solution for it in vain. Any man who can stand here and say he has a solution for it is a liar. He is trying to muddle by his twisted reasoning the minds of the delegates. I repeat that propagandists of the soviet have no right to accept any of the benefits which have been won by rganizd labor."

Japan Stands to Lose Outright Yap Mandate

(By United Press)

Washington, April 19—Japan may lose outright her mandate over the Island of Yap because of the drastic stand she has taken in negotiations with the United States, it developed here today.

The correspondence over Yap as given out by the state department shows that proposals that the "open door" be applied to Yap was first made in a note from this government on December 6. Had Japan agreed to this the Wilson administration might reluctantly have agreed to the Japanese mandate.

Japan however summarily rejected it.

Now Secretary of State Hughes has taken the position that Yap is one of the territories taken from Germany, and that the United States as one of the victors must have a choice in disposing of such territories, and that she has had no voice in the Yap matter. Hughes will not recede from this stand which disposes of all compromise proposals.

Bitter Fight Looms On Beer as Medicine

Washington, April 19—The drys are bombarding congress with appeals for legislation prohibiting the prescription of beer for medicinal purposes and the wets are quite as vigorously protesting against any move in this direction.

The anti-saloon league is promoting the proposed legislation and has lined up in its favor 104 officers of medical associations and hospitals.

The officers of the National Retail Druggists association have followed the lead of the physicians and have gone on record against "beer as a medicine," says the league. Under the law the druggist is the only one who can sell it for medicinal purposes and these officers of the druggists association realize the menace which it is to a reputable trade.

"It is expected that the bill to prohibit medical beer will be introduced this week. In the meantime the regulations concerning it are being perfected. The brewer who spends any considerable sum of money to engage in this uncertain industry will have to take a gambling chance on how long he will be able to do business."

The spectators brought hundreds of wreaths of fragrant cut flowers.

General von Hindenburg, in full uniform, was a prominent figure in the ceremonies. He was accompanied by Ludendorff and Mackensen. General Von Falkenheim led the regimental Hussars, the nly complete military organization in the procession. The general carried the crown of the former empress.

The house and senate conference committee decided upon this rate as a compromise today. When the tax bill passed the house it carried a tax rate of 1.8 per cent. The senate boosted this to 2.25 per cent.

After it compromised on two per cent the house unanimously adopted the committee report and repassed the bill. The senate was expected to do likewise this afternoon.

The conference committee also reached an agreement on the bill providing that the state eight hour day law shall not apply to workers on public roads. This bill was also repassed by the house.

As amended by the senate the bill appropriates $3,000,000 less than was planned originally.

FARMER DELEGATES IN WASHINGTON FACE BIG GRIND ON LAWS

MONTH'S TASK FORESEEN BY MINNESOTAN IN CONFERENCE ON AGRICULTURAL BILLS

STATE'S FARMERS URGED TO TELL FARM BUREAU ENVOY WHAT LAWS THEY FAVOR

St. Paul, April 19—Farmer delegates from 40 states, assembled in Washington, D. C., to urge passage of laws vital to agriculture, face a task that may require an entire month.

Victor E. Anderson, treasurer of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, and Minnesota's representative on the national farm legislation committee, in his report to the state organization headquarters here, said that an unbroken series of conferences with administration leaders has been arranged.

"Many states are anxious to know the details of how Minnesota has been paving the way in legislation and many other matters of importance to agriculture," Mr. Anderson said. "We have been considering finance, including the federal reserve and federal land bank systems, and rural credits. We have also considered co-operative marketing problems, and have had several specialists from the department of agriculture before us. I have also seen Congressman Volstead about the Capper-Volstead act, legalizing co-operative marketing enterprises on a large scale. This act has been re-introduced in congress."

Subcommittees of the farm bureau delegation have been appointed to make a special study of finance and taxation before a definite policy is laid before congress, Mr. Anderson said. Other matters on which the committee is to tell congress the stand of 1,500,000 farm bureau members include tariff protection for farm crops, transportation, immigration, packer control, and establishment of the proposed nitrate plant at Mussel Shoals.

Mr. Anderson urged that Minnesota farmers who have definite ideas on national legislation communicate with the committee while it is in Washington. Farm bureau leaders hope, he said, that by co-operation with the heads of government departments and congressional leaders, the delegation can work out a program of agricultural legislation that will be accepted by congress.

Mahogany Polisher.

Probably it would help some housekeepers to know that an excellent mahogany furniture polish can be made from equal parts of pure olive oil and warm black coffee. Just dampen a cheesecloth with this mixture and pass it over the surface to be polished, then wipe with an old piece of silk. The result will be gratifying. To remove unsightly scratches from mahogany furniture caused by pins and other sharp things, take a Brazil or pecan nut meat and rub it well on the scratch and it will disappear.

Women's Clothes Are Being Selected With More Discrimination, Fashion Writer Says.

JACKET AND SHORT BOXCOAT

Garments Are Newest Note in Little Frenchy Looking Suits Worn Under the Longer Fur or Topcoats.

There may be a buying strike, but there is no dressing strike, observes a New York fashion correspondent. The more one goes about in social circles the more is one impressed by the great number of beautiful frocks that are being worn. Everywhere is seen evidence of the fact that just now women's clothes are being selected with more discrimination, with a keener eye for the elements of style, than has been applied to their choice for some decades past. Women are at last putting their minds on their clothes and are refusing to buy "just anything."

Can that be called a buying strike? Not at all! It portends only good for everybody concerned, and the only trying period is this one of transition from the days when women bought as though they were heavily blindfolded, following wild fashion dictates, to the day when they will buy their clothes as intelligently as they now buy their household furnishings.

One of the biggest designers and merchants in New York was interviewed the other day as he was leaving for Paris. He was asked the age-old question: "What will the women wear next season?" Then came his rather insurgent answer, for this is hard for a dressmaker to admit—"The women of America are choosing their own gowns according to their own individualities. They will no longer consent to be governed by arbitrary style mandates," etc.

Styles may come and styles may go; the directoire may be suggested and the one-piece dress may be threatened with oblivion, but it does look as though the women of today have become wholly positive on the subject of dress and as though they are going to wear what they like. This being the case, then the dressing that one sees in smart places becomes more inspiriting, as a general thing, than it was during former seasons. It is refreshing to see a woman quite correctly and at the same time really suitably gowned. An accomplishment of that sort is something artistic and worthy of notice in itself. And the whole idea makes fashion a more enticingly interesting game than ever it was before, for it opens the avenues of individual expression and the woman who is once hit by the idea becomes an enthusiast from then on. On this basis clothes cannot be a bore in any sense of the word and a thorough knowledge of their makeup and construction can only help to speed any woman on her way of artistic understanding and appreciation.

Among Latest Creations.

Two French gowns displayed recently are among the latest creations by two of the most popular and accomplished of the French designers. Their big idea seems to be to keep the waistline long, at least so the cable reports are saying. In this draped model the waistline is elongated considerably, and the whole effect of the gown is as elongated as it can be made. Sketched by an artist in Paris, and one accustomed to sketching for French magazines, the drawings show plainly how the French are stretching out the lines of their skirts, while as yet we are keeping ours much shorter.

On either side of this Madeleine gown there is a point of heavily wrought beadwork done in silver and gold and black. It is an entirely new and extremely effective way of using trimming on the ever-popular gown of all black.

The Premet model is one of those inimitable combinations of satin and lace for which the French coutourier is famous. It has become quite a fashion to dye the lace to match the satin exactly in tone and this combination of materials promises to be one of the best for the coming season. In this instance the color is tete de negre, a tone very much appreciated by the French woman, who always approves of keeping her dressing low in tone. The hat carries out the one-tone effect, being made of a piece of the same lace that adorns the gown itself. The brown feather droops on one side over the turned-back brim, giving an interesting new turn, falling to the shoulder in spite of the fact that the line of the hat starts out in an entirely different direction.

The most of the new clothes being worn right here in America are those which are budding forth under the warm skies of the sunny South, though the pre-Lenten activities right here in New York brought to light some very interesting types of gowns which indicates for the season to come which way the styles are tending. These are some of them:

Coolie Jacket and Short Boxcoat.

The coolie jacket and the short boxcoat are the newest in the little Frenchy looking suits that are worn so much just now under the longer fur or topcoats. This is a very smart way of dressing for the street and particularly good-looking. Of course, the custom is designed for weather that is more wintry than that to which we have been treated thus far, but it is done none the less and for those who motor the extra warmth and covering are very much needed. There is one little coolie jacket dress made of a rose-taupe duvetyn and trimmed with interesting insets of cotton applique in many varying colors all massed together. There are loose cuffs of this under still looser sleeves, there is an upstanding collar, there is a sort of waistcoat effect, and there is an irregular band around the bottom of the skirt, not to mention little pocket trimmings and a sash tied directly in the back and swinging loose in the breeze from under the looseness of the coat.

Another little coolie jacket reaching to the waistline is made of dark green duvetyn or wool velours, something that is woolly and of extreme softness. With this is worn a white skirt cut in loosely hanging panels, each one of which is bound in the green of the jacket. Still another suit of this type has a jacket that mysteriously turns into a cape as it swings away behind. The cape is of black velours lined with crepe in a bright color and the dress that is worn with it is made also of the crepe that makes the lining.

Sport Suits on Same Principle.

Some of the little sport suits that are being taken to the South are built on this very principle. It is the bright idea of the moment to make the short, little boxcoat of some bright color and then to have a skirt of white. One of the smart dressmakers has a suit of this character with its little, jaunty jacket made from a piece of velours that is raspberry in tone, striped with tiny pin stripes of white. There is a rolled collar of white broadcloth, and the skirt—the tight, narrow and short skirt—is made of white broadcloth, too. A white felt hat, turning up all the way round, is designed for wear with this combination suit, and the idea is to wear white sport shoes with white wooden stockings, finely woven.

Another of these newer sport suits has a little boxcoat of blue duvetyn foundation. This is embroidered all over its surface with black embroidering, forming an irregular pattern. Then it is bound all the way around—at the single-breasted front along the lower edge with a black patent leather binding. There is a black patent leather hat for the outfit and a white velours skirt. And the whole is just as effective as it can be, forming a distinct relief from the all too severe sport attire.

DEERWOOD

Deerwood, Minn., April 16—The Swedish Ladies Aid has an interesting program mapped out for Tuesday evening, April 19, at the Lutheran church. Besides local talent, Mrs. Dahl, well known reader of Pine River, will give several numbers.

L. J. Alberts has returned from Brinsmeade, N. D., where he visited his brother-in-law, H. G. Roll and family. Mrs. Roll died while he was there.

Simonson Brothers will soon have their sawmill in operation.

Alfred Ahlquist of Sioux City, Iowa and Mrs. A. Engwall of Kenora, Ontario, were married in Duluth. They will make their home at Crosby Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ernster are expected home soon from Los Angeles, Calif., wher they spent the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Barber have returned from a visit with relatives in Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Deerwood with other range towns sent its quota of messages to Governor Preus protesting against the tonnage tax and asking him to veto it.

J. M. Ruggles has arrived from Superior, Wis., and will spend the summer on his berry farm near Deerwood.

There were two applicants for marshall and street commissioner, O. C. Coffin and Alvin Marsh. Coffin was re-appointed by the village council. O. E. Cunningham and Albert Olson have been appointed justices of the peace.

Drifting Trees Aid Traveler.

Great trains of driftwood, bound for the Arctic, forever sail the Mackenzie river, and the voyager who happens to be going along with this forest debris often presses it into service, instead of regarding it as an obstacle. The larger trees which retain their branches can be utilized to make progress against an up-river wind, for these submerged boughs are just as effective as an underwater sail. And there are lots of other advantages. By lashing to a suitable tree the traveler can cook his meals on the way, and if he wants to get forward by night his canoe may be secured to an Arctic-bound tree and he may go serenely to sleep while continuing the journey.

The President's Home.

The name White House applied to the residence of the President of the United States, came from the fact that the building is constructed of freestone and is painted white. During the administration of Presidents Harrison and McKinley the term executive mansion was used by White House officials. President Roosevelt returned to the name White House.

SOIL AND SUCCESS

It is not heredity nor education which makes the man. It is the soil.

It is all a matter of vitamines. An eastern chemist who has been studying soil products and their vitaminic properties attributes Ohio's fertility in great men to the fertility of her soil. He traces the passing of athletic honors from the east and middle west to the Pacific coast, to the fact that the eastern heroes of the track and field are fed on vegetables raised in depleted soils and hence lacking in vitamines—the great essential to powerful growth. He sees the shadow of great men from the west falling across all the high places of the nation for the same reason.

Of course a ribald observer suggests a cake of yeast, three times a day, to make up for what the soil fails to supply. And a carping critic might point out that while the fields in the east have been deteriorating, culture and education have been progressing westward. But why carp? Back of the theory is sound truth.

The better the soil, the better the nourishment it produces. Well nourished bodies are best fitted for endeavor in any line, mental or physical. This is one reason, at least, why, given the same opportunities for other development, the men who live on new or unwasted soil will tend to outstrip their less favored brothers in any contest.

The region or the nation which hopes to continue to produce leaders among men must back what it takes out, year after year, from the soil which nourishes them.

A SPIRITUAL CLEAN-UP

The spring clean-up is in full swing. "They that are clean, clean they will be," says the old lady in Water Babies; and in the modern civic campaign, "that goes for all of us."

Unfortunately this spring cleansing is generally directed at the purely material. It has to do with raking the yard, cleaning the attic, cleaning up streets and alleys, swatting the fly and chasing the rat. How much better for all mankind if it included a spiritual clean-up as well!

Why not make it a time for throwing out old grudges and enmities, for destroying the bitterness left by past disappointments, for shedding the winter grouch along with the winter flannels?

Why not clean up old obligations, financial and social; rout out despair and install a bright, new hope instead? Why not swat buzzing scandal with the swatter of gentle peace, as the Bard suggests, though perhaps a trifle less crudely? Why not straighten up the whole mind, ridding it of all its disorders; and the morals, making them clean and orderly? Why not chase out bad physical habits, replacing them with wholesome physical exercises? Here would be a spring clean-up of no small amount in the life of any community.

In Italy people have taken to the caves to solve the housing problem. And in America they have taken to the cellars to solve the sousing problem.

One thing President Harding forgot to outline in his address to congress—Some effective method for making congress work.

Father knows all about "clean-up" week. He reads about it in his check book every month.

Will congress proceed to put the mess in the president's message as usual?

May the new congress do something besides just knocking around!

Exceptional Case.

HEAVY PROGRAM FOR LAW MAKERS

CONGRESS IS LIKELY TO BE KEPT BUSY UNTIL SOME TIME IN AUTUMN.

COLOMBIAN TREATY IS FIRST

Reorganization of Government Departments Seems a Certainty—Dillingham Immigration Bill, Which Wilson Killed, Probably Will Pass Again.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Congress once more is in session, and it is hard to find a man here who is optimistic enough to set the day of adjournment prior to some happy hour well within the keeping of the autumn months.

The legislative program still is in a state of "mix." Barring the fact that the army and navy supply bills which failed at the last session must be given consideration, and that an attempt must be made to secure the sanction by the senate of the Colombian treaty, no one yet knows definitely what matters of legislation will take precedence in the active consideration of the law makers.

Some of the things to be done are known, but just when they will be done is unknown. There will be a reorganization of the government departments, but when this matter will be taken up it is impossible today to say. A bill has been introduced by Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois to accomplish the department reorganization, and it is possible that the McCormick measure may prevail, but it seems more likely today that it simly will be the basis of the legislation.

The McCormick measure abolishes the Interior department and creates in its place two new departments of government, to be known as the Department of Public Works and the other as the Department of Public Welfare. If this measure shall go through, the Department of Public Works will include all the engineering and building services which are now parts of various departments of government. The Department of Public Welfare will include all welfare agencies, like the public health service, war risk insurance, pensions, vocational training, and the children's bureau.

Good Roads and Immigration.

It is probable that before congress adjourns good roads legislation will be enacted. There are two groups of opinion in the matter of good roads. The members of one group insist that federal aid for good roads shall be continued by matching federal dollars against state dollars in equal numbers in the general plans for improvement. The other group desires a national system of highways to be constructed and maintained wholly by federal money and authority.

The immigration bill, which was prevented from becoming a law by a "pocket veto," will be called up by its advocates as early as possible in the new session. It is probable that the measure introduced by Senator Dillingham of Vermont will be repassed without much change, unless the great number of new members who have just entered congress shall alter the aspect of things and insist upon what men call a more libertal bill.

The Dillingham measure, as it passed the senate and was agreed to by the house, limits immigration from any one country in any one year to three per cent of that country's nationals now residing in America. It is said that an attempt will be made to increase the limit to five per cent.

There is going to be a struggle over the navy bill, for the reason that the question of disarmament is certain to come up. Senator Borah, it is known, will seek to minimize the appropriations for battleships. Both President Harding and the secretary of the navy believe that there should be no change in the navy building program.

Taxation and Tariff.

Revision of the taxation laws will occupy much time in congress. One writer has called tariff and tax revision legislative twins, "because of their quality in importance and in magnitude." It is not known definitely, even today, just which will have the right of way over the other.

It is virtually certain that the Fordney tariff measure, which it is claimed will give the farmers of the country relief, will be passed without much delay, and with little or no change from the form in which it passed congress at the last session. It is said, however, that some of the Senate leaders now wish to amend the bill to eliminate some of the features which marked it when it was foreseen that President Wilson intended to veto it.

There will be an attempt to grant free passage through the Panama canal to vessels engaged in coastwise trade, and in fact to all vessels of the United States merchant marine. Senator Jones of Washington and some other members of the senate committee on commerce insist that the exemption which once was allowed should be put into force again by means of new legislation.

There are possibilities of protracted debate in all of the greater subjects which congress will take up for consideration within the next few months.

The Polish government is planning to erect a radio station at Warsaw that will communicate with the United States.

NOW DEMAND PIPE POCKETS

Philadelphia Newspaper Declares Up-to-Date Women Insist on Them in Their Garments.

New suits will have to possess a novel feature if up-to-date young women are to be satisfied. The pipe pocket should be considered in creating all feminine garments of the future.

Perhaps it is the effect of gaining the suffrage, so that they feel they must go on to wider, freer conquests, but, anyway, certain it is that the girls are getting tired of cigarettes and are turning to good old-fashioned corncob pipes as a solace for the languors of modernity, says the Philadelphia Ledger.

Some time ago several young women in New York decided that cigarettes were too expensive, and that they ought to join the great world movement for financial conservation by substituting pipes for the more delicate joy. But at that time ordinary pipes were not tried, usually small, ladylike ones being selected.

Now, however, substantial corncobs, cheap, picturesque and nonbreakable, are the favorites.

"The corncob pipe is unpretentious, respectable and conservative," one of the corncob devotees explained. "Many of our great-grandmothers smoked corncobs. Especially is this true of those of us who had southern great-grandmothers. There is something like a Bolshevik about a cigarette, but we feel that in smoking corncobs we will be back on the sure foundation of good old-fashioned Americanism. The people who are always lamenting the good old days will be pleased, and will feel that the country is saved."

ANYWAY, PROPELLER IS GONE

Dispute Now Is Whether It Was Torn, Bitten, or Blown Off, But It Is Missing.

What happened to the starboard propeller of the United Fruit liner Calamares, recently arrived at New York from Central American ports and Havana, puzzled her skipper, officers and passengers, who discussed the mystery since the ship threw a fit on the afternoon of Wednesday, January 19, in the placid Caribbean and started wabbling, heaving, pitching, tossing, rolling and doing other things that no healthy ship does all at the same time.

Capt. Harry Spencer stopped the liner and the chief engineer examined the starboard propeller. He found that one of the blades had been torn, bitten or blown off. Some surmised that a sea serpent might have nibbled at the propeller and others said outright there was no doubt a steel-eating Caribbean shark had bitten off the blade.

Captain Spencer derided these theories, declaring the blade had been blown off by the force of a subaqueous earthquake, as the Calamares began rocking violently a moment after the mysterious force was first felt. And there the matter rests.

Electric Air Purifier.

How many places there are where the natural air circulation is inadequate! Restaurants, for instance! How often one enters them with a wee bit of appetite, only to have that wee bit reduced to none at all, by the close and stuffy atmosphere of the place. Not only that, but the cooking odors are all too apparent. In other words, the place is so "smelly" that appetite dwindles instead of being whetted, and even though the food is good the appetite is lacking. Is there any remedy for the close and stuffy conditions of so many restaurants?

There is the electric air purifier that costs no more to operate than an electric fan, and it removes all impurities and approximates outdoor conditions, so there is a pleasant, stimulating tang in the atmosphere. It is valuable in kitchens, offices, basements, smoking rooms and theaters—wherever the air conditions are apt to be close and foul-odored.

CHIROPRACTIC HEALTH BREVITIES

There are 310 mechanical movements known to workmen. All are modification of those occuring within the human body.

In the human machine are parts which in principle are like oil the bars, levers, joints, pulleys, pumps, pipes, wheels, axes, bearings, sockets, beams, girders, trusses, arches, columns, cables, and supports known to science. Man's mechanical works are but adaptation of principles to the form and action of the body.

COUNCIL DOES MUCH BUSINESS

Milk Ordinance Receives its Second Reading. Provisions are Discussed

CANVASS CITY ELECTION VOTE

Water Rent at Gregory Park—Street Sprinkling—Curfew Ringers to be Paid

All members were present at the council session. The city election vote was canvassed and other matters attended to.

Complains of Manhole

Mr. Germain complained of the condition of the manhole on the corner of 10th and Holly streets. On motion of Aldermen Michael and Koop, carried, the matter was referred to the health committee and street committee with power to act.

Flag Pole Foundation

A. G. Anderson appeared before the council and asked permission to take two loads of large rock from Oak street to use for a foundation for a flag pole on the Harrison school grounds. On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Hugdahl, carried, the request was granted.

Mr. Anderson also spoke in behalf of Erick Erickson asking that the latter be given permission or given a lease to build on Norwood street east of 19th street where it runs into the swamp. He stated that Mr. Erickson planned on draining the swamp if given permission to build. On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Cordes, carried, the matter was left with the city attorney and the street committee.

Grading Discussion

A discussion followed in regard to the grading of South Fourth street between Pine and Quince streets and on motion of Aldermen Michael and Koop, carried, it was left with the aldermen of the first ward.

Water Rent at Gregory Park

S. R. Adair of the park board brought up the matter of the water and light board charging water rent at Gregory park. He said Secretary W. D. McKay had spoken to him about it and it was the understanding of Mr. Adair that the council was going to take some action that evening. The matter was discussed but no action taken.

A letter was read from the water and light board, stating that they felt as though the services of J. C. Claussen, general foreman of the new water supply, could be dispensed with and for the council to take action as they thought fit.

After a short discussion, it was moved by Aldermen Michael and Anderson and carried that the matter be referred back to the water and light board because the council has no jurisdiction in the matter.

Street Sprinkling

Another letter from the water and light board was read in which they stated that Joseph Rosko, who has the contract for sprinkling the street intersections for the city, would have to pay for the water he used under meter measurements. Mr. Rosko was getting his water from a standpipe furnished by the city. On motion of Aldermen Lyonais and Rasch, carried, the matter was left with the fire and water committee to confer with the water and light board.

Parent-Teachers Petition

A petition from parents and teachers from the Washington and Lincoln school districts and one from Southeast Brainerd district was read asking the council to enforce city ordinances relative to the proper management of pool halls, soft drink parlors, confectionery stores and places of similar nature; also to see that state laws relating to the sale and use of tobacco, including cigarets, be lived up to, etc.

Mayor Little's Stand

Mayor F. E. Little said he would be glad to see that these laws were enforced if people who made the kick would only put in a complaint when they had a grievance and in that way back him up.

City Attorney's Statement

City Attorney D. H. Fullerton stated that at no time had the pool halls been better regulated than at present. He stated that they all were closed at the proper time and in a few cases, where they remained open only a few minutes after closing time, the offenders were punished. He stated that the only ones who made any complaints against the pool halls, etc., were the police. No other people had ever made out a written complaint.

List of Students Names

It was suggested that each pool hall be given a list of names of the students. The matter was finally left with the mayor to look after.

Helping Poor

Alderman Witham reported helping the poor. City Attorney Fullerton reported sending Peter Saterstrom to his son-in-law in Muscatine, Iowa.

Fire Protection

Chief McGinn wanted to be sure of better fire pressure and said Henry Roberts was the only man in charge of such things. He asked that the firemen be given authority to order increased pressure. On motion of Aldermen Lyonais and Koop, carried, the matter of better pressure was left with the fire committee.

Curfew Ringing

Curfew ringing was discussed. On motion of Alderman Holvick, seconded and carried, curfew ringers are to be paid $4 a month.

Vote Canvassed

On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Koop, carried, the council canvassed the eletcion returns. No change was recorded over the list elected as reported in the Dispatch.

Milk Ordinance

The new milk ordinance No. 303 was given its second reading. Alderman Michael explained the bottling of milk. Alderman Lyonais said that it might put out of business those with one or two cows. Alderman Michael said many restaurant owners favored bottling the milk.

Firemen's Relief Fund

Alderman Michael reported on the Firemen's Relief Fund. It was recommended favorably with these exceptions:

1—No back money to be paid.

2—No relief benefits paid for 10 years.

3—No payment made to Firemen's Relief Association until 1922.

It was moved by Aldermen Anderson and Hugadhl, carried, that the recommendations of the finance committee be concurred in and the Firemen's Relief Association be given authority to organize.

North Fifth Street

The North Fifth street re-assessment for paving came up for discussion. On motion of Aldermen Michael and Koop, carried, the rebate asked for by Lucy Deering was not allowed. All voted aye except Alderman Hugdahl who voted no.

Fence Down

Alderman Rasch reported the fence down on North Bluff Avenue.

The culvert of South 13th street was left with the city engineer and street committee with power to act.

Fencing 13th and Laurel was left to the same as named above, with power to act.

Repair of 10th and Quince streets was referred to the street committee.

Mayor Wants Action

Mayor F. E. Little wanted action on the removal of buildings on Fifth and Front streets. On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Hugdahl, carried, the matter was left with the city property committee to confer with the water and light board for the purpose of removing the buildings and putting up a joint building for supplies.

Removing Rocks

On motion of Aldermen Andersen and Rasch, carried, the matter of removing rocks on East Oak east of the tracks, was left with the city engineer.

Street Repairing

On motion of Aldermen Lyonais and Rasch, carried, the street committee is to confer with the water and light board relative to repairing those streets where water mains were laid.

Overdrawn

The street and sewer fund was reported overdrawn about $400.

License Not Granted

Upon recommendation of the police, Aldermen Cordes and Michael moved, and the motion carried, that the junk license of Peter Jones be not granted.

Dump Signs

Property owners on South Thirteenth street wanted dump signs.

Mayor F. E. Little spoke about placing dump signs in West Brainerd and burying tin cans. He asked for permission to continue the work and on motion of Aldermen Anderson and Koop, carried, the request was granted.

Pump Needed

Alderman Cordes spoke about men needing a pump to clear water from sewer work in South Sixth street.

On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Holvick, carried, the sewer on Eleventh street was ordered repaired immediately.

New Tires

Alderman Anderson recommended new tires or reliners on the fire truck. On motion of Aldermen Witham and Michael the purchase of six reliners was referred to the fire committee with power to act.

Lawn Trespassers

Alderman Holvick asked that the council give property owners permission to put up signs prohibiting crossing over yards, lots and boulevards, which was granted.

Arc Lights

Alderman Koop said the water and light board had not put in arc lights because funds were low, but in 30 days probably would install them.

The Last Word.

"A woman always has the last word," commented Mr. Greweher. "It isn't entirely her fault," replied Miss Cayenne. "Some men are too dull or too bashful to do a reasonable share in keeping up the conversation."

A strange race between two horses and a locomotive furnishes one of several exciting scenes in the big Vitagraph special production, "Black Beauty," based on Anna Sewell's famous classic by the same name. The scene was staged at great cost and necessitated the use of unique photographic "shots." It is one of the most thrilling race scenes ever filmed.

SPORT ADORED BY FILIPINOS

Cock Fighting the One Occupation That Appeals to the Heart of the Brown Brothers.

In every one of the larger cities of the Philippines and throughout every one of the thousands of little barrios—from northern Luzon to southern Mindanao—little barrios that fringe the ocean's edge or nestle among the hills, there is but one universal and adored sport, but one game that is pre-eminently popular from the mountain fastnesses of the headhunters to the southern shores of Moroland, and that is cock fighting.

Every Sunday morning—for Sunday is the great day for the sport—at the first crack of dawn along the roads and trails that lead into the little settlements and on the streets that twist through the smelly and ramshackle barrios, will be met numbers of Filipinos walking with a quick, jaunty step, anticipation written plainly upon their brown faces and an unusual light in their dark eyes. Each carries his favorite game cock under his arm, and all are converging upon the cockpit.

"Lost" Lincoln a Mystery.

An oil painting of Abraham Lincoln, 25 by 35 inches in size, rescued several years ago from a pile of supposedly worthless furniture taken from the old Red Lion inn in Philadelphia, today forms a mystery over which there is much discussion by artists. After its rescue the picture was hung in a Philadelphia residence where a painter, Baruch M. Feldman, happened upon it and purchased it. He began the work of reclaiming it, and after the dirt had been removed the portrait stood out, clear and well defined in all its features.

Artists who have seen the picture are agreed that the character of the portrait is such that the suggestion that it might have been painted from a photograph is rendered absurd. Who painted the "lost" Lincoln is a mystery, and there is no mark or sign to give those studying it a clew that might lead to its identification.

HUGHES AGREES WITH PRESIDENT

THEY ARE VERY EVIDENTLY IN FULL ACCORD CONCERNING FOREIGN RELATIONS.

DANGER LIES IN THE SENATE

Some "Irreconcilables" May Try to Stir Up Revolt Against Harding's Policies, Unless Party Leaders Can Keep Them Quiet.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Day by day it becomes more apparent that President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes are in accord on matters concerning foreign relations. Of course it is probable that Mr. Harding learned in advance that he and the man he was to choose for the first cabinet position believed alike on subjects relating to the foreign affairs of the American government.

It has been said frequently that the cabinet thus far has been at one with the President on all legislative and international matters. It also has been said that the Republican majority in congress thus far seems to be one with the administration. Thus far, however, means only thus far. It seems today that the greatest danger of a break between the President and the majority of his party men in congress will come, if it comes at all, over the matter of foreign affairs and their conduct.

It is understood that the President does not care to have the Knox resolution for a separate peace with Germany pressed for immediate sanction, unless some changes are made therein. Of course it is known that there are men in the senate, members of the President's political party, who do not care to have the resolution changed in any way. Therefore there may be trouble arising from the position which probably will be taken by those senators who are called irreconcilables on foreign affairs. There is a chance, however, and perhaps a pretty good one, that the Republican leaders may succeed in inducing the irreconcilables to cease temporarily from their irreconcilability, and for "party's sake" let the President have his will unimpeded.

It has been suggested, in view of the note sent to the four great allied powers, Great Britain, Italy, France and Japan, notifying them that this government will not feel itself compelled to agree to the arrangements of the mandate system of the League of Nations, that there may be a movement on the part of the United States to bring about a conference of representatives of these nations, which, in a large sense, will be a peace conference.

It is intimated in Washington that the postponement of General Foch's visit to the United States may have some significance. It is believed that a conference, if it is called, will not be advisable before fall, and now it is understood that General Foch will postpone his visit to this country until that time. President Harding seemingly, is strong in his desire to attempt to bring about friendly relations among all the nations, and it is probable that his wish to have action on the Knox resolution postponed is in keeping with his general views on means to restore amicable relations among the peoples of the earth, and especially to keep such relations between the United States and its associates in the great war.

It seems to be the administration's belief that concord in the world is something more to be desired than an amicable and separate peace with Germany. Mr. Harding never seems to have entirely deserted his plan for an association of nations. He has rejected the League, but has taken care to leave the path open to something else. The secretary of state has been more active within the last few weeks than any other member of the cabinet, and his actions which, of course, always are the President's actions, have aroused the attention of foreign nations. Day by day the position of the United States is becoming more apparent, and yet everything that has been said in note form concerning mandates, or other things, has had in it something which suggested a final getting together of the nations in order that all may be well with the world.

Hughes Firm but Diplomatic.

The notes of Secretary Hughes to the various governments have been notes with enough of the diplomatic tone to them to save them from abruptness. They are firm in their wording, and yet seemingly void of anything which, from the nature of the thing, at any rate, might give offense. The President of the United States and the secretary of state spend more time together than the people realize.

If the President shall insist on changes in the Knox resolution and in the postponement of its consideration for some time to come, he will meet with opposition in the United States senate, a coming condition which already has been commented upon. There are senators, however, who, knowing the President's mind in the matter, are willing to say that they believe the Republican members will do what the President wants them to do, and without a great deal of demur, except possibly from two or three.

Mr. Robert Cotton, Manager,

Minneapolis, Minnesota

Dear Mr. Cotton:

I went last night to see "Black Beauty". It certainly was a pleasure to find the house jammed and standing room sought for. And the play deserves it. Every old fellow who was brought up on a farm or near one will have memories of childhood recalled during the evening; and children who have never known the beauty and companionship of horses should go. This picture will leave its mark for a life time. Then surely those persons who are asking for better movies, every one of them, should see this picture and show the producers that they will support a clean, beautiful thing when it comes to town. I hope that the success of this film will warrant your company in doing more of this same high grade work.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) W. F. WEBSTER

"Black Beauty" will be shown at Lyceum tomorrow and Thursday, matinee and night.

GAME WARDEN GETS FLOCK OFFENDERS

In His Drive in Cass County Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardle Has Half Dozen in Court

BEFORE JUDGE C. J. EVENSTA

Four Paid Fines for Spearing Fish Without a Light, Two Speared Pike Illegally

In his drive after game law offenders in Cass county, Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardle brought half a dozen to the bar of the court, and Judge C. J. Evensta sentenced each to pay a fine.

J. E. Williams of Staples, Jess Palmer and Henry Dake of Motley, charged with spearing fish with artificial lights, paid fines of $10 each and costs of $5.70 each.

August Gahlka and E. A. Welff of Homebrook paid fines of $13.35 each for spearing pike.

Clarence Collins of Pillager paid a fine of $13.70 for spearing fish with artificial light.

Game Warden Talks Quietly

When Deputy Game Warden Cardle gives any offender notification to appear in court on a complaint, he always talks quietly nd expects the man notified to appear. If he fails to heed the notification, a warrant is sworn out and accompanied by a deputy sheriff, the man is brought in.

Occasionally some man gets obstreperous and fights the case, and as Mr. Cardle has a long record for convictions, never starting a case unless he is backed by the evidence which will hold in court, it costs the offender considerable money in time lost attending court, lawyers' fees and in the end the inevitable fine.

HIKE TO BARROWS

Senior Class of High School, Chaperoned by Faculty, Walked in the Starlight

The Senior class of the Brainerd high school could not have met with a more beautiful and picturesque evening than what they found last Friday for a delightful walk to Barrows. The party, chaperoned by members of the faculty, met at the school at seven thirty o'clock, and started out on their journey at approximately eight o'clock.

The stars shone in all their glory, as did the moon which seemed to smile and wink at the youthful merrymakers. The weather was ideal and the air delightful and calm. Some enjoyed walking the state road while others were more familiar with walking railroad ties.

After arriving at the hall at Barrows about nine thirty o'clock, the students turned their attention to entertainment and amusement which they found in games and music. Within a couple hours, the old familiar cry broke out, "When do we eat?" Miss Tornstrom, aided by able assistants, soon rounded things into great shape, and it was not long before a grand rush was made for the luncheon table. Immense quantities of baked beans, delicious sandwiches, sweet pickles, and wonderful cake were devoured with ravenous appetites.

The main question now arose: to flag the "limited". Passengers and train crew must have thought that another revolution had broken out in Mexico, from amount of noise made when the train drew up at Barrows junction. The engineer probably didn't know whether to stop or not, but finally decided that he had better. Several class yells were given on the train, and the famous Senter boys' quartet favored passengers with several vocal selections.

Finally the train pulled into old familiar Brainerd once more. Some were even heard to say that it was the best time of their life. All declared that they had had a most enjoyable time. It was estimated that between forty and fifty members of the class were present. All went away happy and laughing and singing, having dreams of future parties and similar hikes.

3 BANDITS ROB DEERWOOD DEPOT

Trio Fires Shots, Covers Night Operator, One Vaults Through Window and Steals $83

OPERATOR SENDS OUT CALL

Authorities at Brainerd Arrest Four Suspects in Yards, Men Examined Today

Authorities at Brainerd picked up four auspects from freight trains, after being notified of the holdup at the Deerwood Northern Pacific depot at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Three bandits covered the night operator, shots were fired and one of the trio vaulted through the depot window and grabbed $83. The trio fled and the night operator notified every station within 50 miles of Deerwood.

Special Agent Ryan of the St. Paul division of the Northern Pacific quickly made Brainerd and accompanied by a detective examined the four suspects taken in Brainerd yards.

This makes three holdups in the course of a few weeks at and near Deerwood. The first was the $90 holdup of the Shannon Inn at Deerwood, the second the $200 holdup of Crosby store, and the third the depot robbery.

The Deerwood operator's name is Ash and he was called to Brainerd to identify the suspects held. Inspector Ryan said the trio was one tall and two short men and he believes it is the same three which committed other holdups in and near Deerwood.

The most Sensational Milk Producing Strain of the Breed. The records of May Echo Sylvia are matters of history. She is the only cow that has produced over 1000 lbs. milk in 7 days. She freshened at 23 months of age. She then made better than 20 lbs. and finished a year with over 600 lbs. butter, having been milked but three times per day.

At 4 years old she made 750 lbs. milk. The next year over 859 lbs milk; following this with her Sensation record of over 1005 lbs. milk and 41 lbs. butter, during this test hanging up the world record production for all periods from one to four months.

Her offspring, like herself have made a great many bank accounts. This bank is in position to get a few male calves of this breeding which we believe would be very good lines for herd sires.

Chiropractic for Stomach Trouble

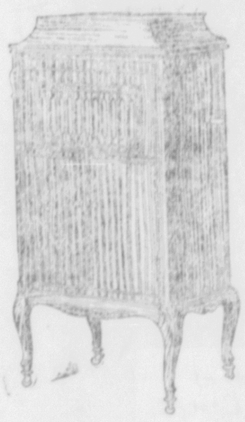

If your stomach is out of order consult a Chiropractor at the earliest possible moment. He will tell you why your stomach is not as it should be. He will locate the point where the pinched nerve is and will adjust the vertebrae which are out of position and which produce the pressure on the nerve. As soon as this is adjusted and the pressure relieved, the nerve will carry the life force freely to the stomach. As soon as the nerve begins normal function then so soon will the stomach become strong and normal.

CABINET DEEP IN RAILWAY PROBLEM

PRESIDENT HAS GIVEN MATTER EXHAUSTIVE STUDY AND WILL OFFER SOLUTION.

LONG DEBATE MAY FOLLOW

All Agree That Freight Rates Are Too High, and Railroad Executives Declare That Wages Also Must Be Reduced.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—At this time the President's cabinet is giving serious consideration to railroad matters. Transportation seems to loom large as one of the vital problems of the day.

Recently the President has been conferring with members of the railway labor board. Everybody knows that the question of wages is the one which is being pressed for answer. The railroad managements declare that there can be no hope of railroad prosperity unless wages in some places shall be decreased. The labor men charge that the railroads are not being economically managed; that money can be saved in many ways, and that there is no necessity today of lowering the wage rate.

It seems to be the feeling in Washington that when congress undertakes legislation on railroad matters the discussion will be long continued, taking probably as much time in the house as tariff discussion. Unquestionably there are men who take part in the present controversy who desire government ownership. There are also men who, while not wanting government ownership, want government supervision to such an extent that it will amount virtually to government control. Then there are men friendly to private ownership who say that if costs can be adjusted, and the railroad managements can be given a free hand, prosperity will return.

President Harding has made it evident that for a time at least he does not intend to confer with the railway executives, but will limit his discussions temporarily to the chiefs of the various bureaus of the government. Later on it is known that the President will ask the opinions of the big railway men of the country.

Freight Rates Must Come Down.

It is virtually admitted here by the government officials who have given the matter consideration that the existing freight rates cannot continue. It is charged that it is more costly to ship farm produce from farming sections to the cities of the East than it is to ship to foreign ports.

Of course there is something entirely wrong with the whole matter and the members of the cabinet, and the President with them, realize it. All the cabinet officers intimate that what they desire is to get the whole truth if they can. After the truth has been found they believe that they can frame some kind of a policy for rate adjustment that will not cause injury to general business, nor to the people as a whole.

Congress always has been afraid of the railroad question. Politics enters into it to an unusual degree. It is said that there were many members of the lower house of congress who voted for a law a few years ago in which none of them believed, and voted for it because they feared that a certain part of their constituencies, holding the balance of power, would defeat them for re-election if they had voted in reverse.

It is rather a hard thing to intimate that some congressmen are moved by their fears rather than by their convictions, but the charge is made so frequently that there seems to be something back of it, and when one analyzes some of the votes in house and senate with a view to the sections of the country represented by the voters, the charge seems to have some truth back of it.

Wage Scale the Hardest Problem.

The biggest question today, of course, is that of the change in the wage scale. If wages are reduced a strike is feared, and if they are not reduced the continuance of high freight and passenger rates is feared, and if some of the railroad managers tell the truth, bankruptcy of the railroads is feared. The cabinet is concerned over all these questions.

The President eventually will make his recommendations to congress on this great railroad subject. He has been studying the thing personally ever since he was elected. He has had advice from all quarters. He has read, it is said, all that the railroad managers have to say, all that the shippers have to say, and all that the wage-earners have to say. He has a barrelful of information and his problem now is to average the contents of the barrel, make allowance for overstatements and understatements, for prejudices and perhaps for some actual untruths. Then he will act in the way of recommendation, and of course the hope of the business and the labor world is that he will act in a way to bring peace, and with it prosperity, in the transportation world.

Had Some Start.

"Any one-way streets in this town?" asked the Boston man, who was visiting California in his car, adjusting his spectacles.

"Well, stranger," replied the native, "we had one once, but when we got that last earthquake that one-way street commenced going every-which-way."
